

ACJNA

Association des Communes
Jumelées de Nouvelle-Aquitaine

“Young ambassadors of European citizenship and town-twinning”

The Association des Communes Jumelées de Nouvelle-Aquitaine (ACJNA), created in 1987 is an association aiming to create a network unifying towns twinned and their twinning committees in the French region of Nouvelle Aquitaine. At present day, the ACJNA is a unique organization in France.

Missions of the association

- Provide an information hub on town-twinning,
- Organise federative events,
- Promote and coordinate town-twinning's activities,
- Encourage Youth mobility,
- Guide and advise towns and committees in the realization of their project,
- Act as representative for its members and their first speaker.

Context of the mission

Following the unification of the regions in 2016, in 2018 the ACJNA has extended its network to partners and members of the twinned towns in Nouvelle Aquitaine.

Our main challenges and your future tasks will be: developing new projects, creating and structuring different actions, promoting and supporting activities carried out by town twinned and committees!
